

Baylor University Campus Information for visits and presentations

While there are many ways to learn about Baylor, we believe that the best way to learn about Baylor is to come to campus and experience it yourself. Our different campus visit opportunities are listed below. We hope to meet you in person soon!

Premiere Events (Visit day for high school students) is Saturday, September 22, 2007,

Best time to visit Premiere is an all-day event packed with special offerings, such as: special interest sessions, academic sessions, campus tours, and student entertainment.

Personalized Campus Visits

Monday through Friday (and most Saturdays), you are invited to visit the Baylor campus. You can custom-design your visit to attend a class of your choice, meet with a professor in your area of interest, participate in a student-led campus tour, and learn about admissions and financial aid.

Sic'Em Days (October 8, 2007; November 19, 2007; February 18, 2008;

March 19, 2008

Sic'Em Days are weekday visit experiences for those who cannot attend one of the weekend Premiere programs. Sic'Em Days include a tour of the campus, presentations by professors, and lunch in a Residential Restaurant.

Invitation to Excellence

Invitation to Excellence is a special fall weekend program designed to inform National Merit Semifinalists of the opportunities awaiting them at Baylor.

We are encouraging students to apply early!

With last year's record number 26,000 applications, we are encouraging students to apply for our first deadline of November 1 in anticipation of another large year. Our second deadline is February 1.

Students may apply online for free at www.baylor.edu/admissions/apply. We require the application, an official transcript, and official SAT/ACT scores to review a student's file, and this year we are strongly encouraging students to submit the optional information, which they can find after they submit the application or at www.baylor.edu/admissions/status
